Micro-Internships

Get Experience. Get Paid. Get Hired.

Through Micro-Internships, students and recent graduates can demonstrate skills, explore career paths, and expand their networks. Unlike traditional internships, these opportunities are not tied to the academic calendar, tend to be remote, are short-term (typically 10 to 40 in total), and are deadline-driven as opposed to set during specific hours - perfect for early career talent with erratic or hectic schedules!

This Month: Applying in the Age of AI

AI seems to be changing the way we do everything these days, but should it change the way you apply to Micro-Internships? Read on to understand when AI can be a beneficial tool, and when you're better off doing things the old-fashioned way.
